A strong patient's voice, to drive better health in Europe

SPECIAL YOUTH EDITION

A WORD FROM EPF PRESIDENT AND DIRECTOR

We are delighted to share with you this special issue of our newsletter dedicated to our EMPATHY seminar "Europe Meets Young Patients", held in Brussels from 8 to 11 July 2013.

This event was our first EPF Youth Project. The focus was on the needs of young patients in EU decision-making processes and through the seminar we established active dialogue between young patients and European policy-makers and stakeholder actors.

We will use the evidence collected through this four-days meeting to shape our policy work with our members.

We hope that EMPATHY will contribute to strengthening young representatives' skills and self-confidence while reinforcing their representation in patient organisations.

We will continue to invest in strong cooperation between young patients and the wider patient community to drive health policies that are more responsive to young patients' needs.

We hope you enjoy this special issue and get a sense of the enthusiasm and passion of our young patient leaders.

Warmest Greetings,

Anders Olauson, EPF President and Nicola Bedlington, EPF Director

WHAT DOES 'EMPATHY' MEAN FOR YOUNG PATIENTS?

The EMPATHY project or "Europe meets Young Patients" consisted of a four-day seminar that took place in Brussels on 8-11 July. The EPF Youth Group organised the event with the support of EPF. Policy discussions focused mainly on two major topics: health issues and discrimination.

The PCWP provides recommendations to the European Medicines Agency and its human scientific committees on all matters of interest to patients in relation to medicinal products.

The European Medicines Agency (EMA) was invited to contribute to the EMPATHY Seminar in a session devoted to collecting views on a video and a questionnaire. The exchanges were very fruitful for the Agency which demonstrates the importance to involve young patients in the design of tools that are addressed to them.
