// OCTOBER 2016 ISSUE

Welcome to the latest issue of our Newsletter! Brussels has been buzzing with many events and activities this October, and here are our highlights!

It is our pleasure to share with you that EPF will run a public campaign on the central issue of Access to Healthcare in the course of 2017! Focusing on the United Nations Sustainable Development Goal of Universal Health Coverage for All by 2030, our campaign will address the challenges faced by patients in terms of access to health and social care and propose avenues to break down these barriers. For more details, see our first article, here below. The European Parliament own-initiative report on access to medicines, drafted by MEP Soledad Cabezón-Ruiz (Spain, S&D) has been released! We have analysed the document carefully and have proposed a series of amendments.

Recent weeks have seen EPF represented in many external events. We report here on our participation in the European Health Forum that took place in Gastein late September, and you will read on our blog the report of conference organised by our Portuguese member on the involvement of patients in policy shaping.

The process of Health Technology Assessment (HTA) is a significant topic for patients and features as one of our work plan's priorities. In this issue, we share a general update on our recent patient -oriented HTA-related activities.

We also report on a major multi-stakeholder event organised by the European Commission on biosimilar medicinal products. As the final report is published, read our take on this important topic!

Our Capacity Building Programme in Hungary is reaping dividends! Read our plans for the coming months.

EPF played an important role in a regional conference held in Pristina, Kosovo, aiming at supporting patient organisations in securing their place in the political and institutional context of the Western Balkans region.

We also introduce you to PREFER, a new initiative on patients' preference elicitation in benefit/risks balance, where EPF sits in the advisory panel to ensure patients' voices are represented.

Enjoy the reading!
